Press Release April 9, 2014

Very shortly after releasing information regarding the adult male found at Mentor Headlands Beach we were contact by the Cleveland Police Department. They provided information concerning a person from their city who had tattoos matching the ones discovered on the subject found at the beach.

We are not releasing personal information on the deceased until positive ID is made through dental records, personal ID through family or DNA. We do not feel at this point that any foul play was involved. There is considerable information to believe at this point that this was the result of a suicide.

Coroner Lynn Smith is coordinating efforts with the Lake County Sheriff's Office, and the Cuyahoga County Coroner's Office, in order to complete a positive identification of the deceased. Once that is accomplished a more complete identification of the subject and the circumstances surrounding his death will be released.
