

Rule 23A: Standard Parenting Time Guidelines

23A.01 In General

The Court strongly encourages parents to create their own cooperative parenting time schedules tailored to the specific needs of their children, the parents' respective work hours, and the collective needs of each household. To help create a workable schedule, parents are urged to read "Planning for Parenting Time: Ohio's Guide for Parents Living Apart," available on the Domestic Relations website at www.lakecountyohio.gov/dr. There are sample parenting time schedules in the guide.

For parents who are unable to agree on a parenting schedule, the Court sets forth in this Rule a plan to ensure the minor children have frequent and consistent contact with both parents.

The Court's plan reflects:

- (1) The preservation and development of a close relationship between the children and each parent; and,
- (2) Consideration of the changing developmental needs of the children.

If parents cannot agree on their own plan or the Court's plan due to objections because of special circumstances (such as travel time, work requirements, substance abuse, mental illness, or violence), the parents must be prepared to present specific facts in a hearing for a proposed plan which considers the best interests of the children, not the parents.

23A.02 Infants: 0 – 2 Months

For infants younger than two months of age, the nonresidential parent may spend time with the infant in the residential parent's home three days per week, for two hours per visit. If the parents cannot agree as to days and times, the following schedule shall be followed: the nonresidential parent shall have parenting time each Sunday from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., and each Tuesday and Thursday evening, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

*Unless the weekend following is that parent’s regularly-scheduled weekend, in which case the parenting time shall continue through that parent’s regularly-scheduled weekend.

(D) Spring Break:

In even-numbered years, the residential parent shall have parenting time during Spring Break, and in odd-numbered years the nonresidential parent shall have parenting time during Spring Break. If Easter falls during Spring Break, the parent having the children for Spring Break shall have the children for Easter. If Easter does not fall during Spring Break, the parents shall alternate Easter according to the schedule above.

Winter Break shall be divided equally between the parents. In even-numbered years, the residential parent shall have parenting time with the children during the first half, and the nonresidential parent shall have parenting time with the children during the second half of Winter Break. In odd-numbered years, the nonresidential parent shall have parenting time with the children during the first half and the residential parent shall have parenting time during the second half of Winter Break. Winter Break begins at 6:00 p.m. on the last day of school and ends at the drop-off of the children at school after the last day of Winter Break. Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve, and New Year's Day shall not be included in calculating the equal number of days to which each parent is entitled.

(F) Days of Special Meaning:

Father's Day shall be spent with Father; Mother's Day shall be spent with Mother. Parenting time shall be from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., or as otherwise agreed.

The child's birthday shall be spent with the parent who has regularly-scheduled parenting time on that day.

(G) Extended Summer Parenting Time, Summer Vacations, and Travel: Each parent shall have half of the children's summer vacation, provided that the last full week shall be spent with the residential parent. Parenting time shall occur on a one week on, one week off basis, beginning at 6:00 p.m. on Sunday and extending until the following Sunday at 6:00 p.m. Weekly parenting time with the nonresidential parent shall begin on the first full week following the last day of school.

Each parent is entitled to a two week period of uninterrupted parenting time with the minor children each summer. In even-numbered years, the Mother shall have the first choice and shall choose her two week uninterrupted parenting time by advising the Father of that time period on or before May 1st of that year. In odd-numbered years, the Father shall have the first choice and shall choose his two week uninterrupted parenting time by advising the Mother of that time period on or before May 1st of that year. Neither parent shall have more than a two week, or fourteen day, period of uninterrupted parenting time during the summer.

For any vacation or holiday travel, each parent must provide the other parent with information about the destination, times of arrival and departure, and methods of travel. If there are children in different age brackets, the provisions for the oldest age bracket shall apply to all children, except that there shall be no extended parenting time or vacation time for a child under two years of age.

If summer school is necessary for a child to pass to the next grade, the child is required to attend summer school classes. Parents may schedule summer extended parenting time during a mandatory summer school period, but the child must attend all classes.

Child support will NOT be reduced during summer vacation periods specified in this provision.

23A.05 Teenagers: Age 13 – 18

(A) The nonresidential parent's regular parenting time on alternating weekends, midweek, and during holidays, as well as extended time during the summer months described in Loc. R. 23A.04 shall apply to teenagers. Parents are urged to understand a child's normal social development during these sensitive years, when the teenager normally spends less time with either parent.

(B) In exercising parenting time with a teenager, the nonresidential parent shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate a teenager's participation in the teenager's academic, extracurricular, and social activities.

23A.06 Rules Regarding Parenting Time

(A) Conflicting Schedules: In the event of any conflict between parenting time schedules, the following is the order of priority:

- (1) Holidays;
- (2) Vacation periods or extended parenting times; and,
- (3) Weekends and mid-week days.

For example, one parent may not schedule his or her summer vacation to include July 4th if July 4th is the other parent's holiday that year. As another example, the residential parent may be entitled to have the children on the Easter holiday, even though it falls on the nonresidential parent's alternating weekend. In this case, the nonresidential parent's weekend shall conclude at 6:00 p.m. on Saturday evening.

(B) Illness: It is expected that the parents will follow the parenting time schedule despite any illness of the children, unless both parents agree that this would not be advisable due to the children's condition or contagiousness.

Both parents should use common sense as to a sick child and be sensitive to the child's needs. In the event that a child is ill, medications and instructions for special care shall travel with the child. Each parent should notify the other, as soon as reasonably possible, of any diagnosis, injury, or treatment, as well as the name, address, and phone number of all treatment facilities and medical professionals involved.

Any weekend parenting time that is missed due to the illness of a child shall be made up the following weekend or as the parents may mutually agree. The residential parent shall promptly notify the nonresidential parent of the child's illness prior to the exercise of parenting time. The Court does not expect parents to abuse the intent of this Rule and interfere with the nonresidential parent's time with the children.

(C) Telephone and Mail: Each parent may have reasonable telephone contact with the children during the other parent's parenting time, not to exceed once a day between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. If the children are not available, the children should return the telephone call.

Each parent shall encourage free communication between the children and the other parent, and shall not do anything to impede or restrict reasonable communication by telephone, mail, or email between the children and the other parent, whether initiated by the children or the other parent. Parents need to be aware that older children and teens text rather than having telephone conversations. Any mail or email between the children and either parent shall be strictly confidential and shall not be opened or read by the other parent.

(D) Cooperation: Both parents shall refrain from criticizing the other parent or arguing with the other parent in the presence of the children or where the children can overhear.

(E) Exchange of Phone Numbers: Each parent must, unless the Court orders otherwise, keep the other parent informed of his or her current telephone number and a telephone number where the children may be reached. This includes the parents' cell phone numbers.

(F) Grace Period: The transporting parent for parenting time shall have a grace period of 15 minutes for pick-up and delivery, if both parents live within 30 miles of each other. If the one-way distance to be traveled is more than 30 miles, the grace period shall be 30 minutes.

In the event that one parent exceeds the grace period, that period of parenting time is forfeited, unless prior notification and arrangements have been made. This rule does not apply in cases where the one parent lives in excess of 30 miles away and suffers an unavoidable breakdown or delay en route, and the parent promptly notifies the other parent by telephone of the delay.

Repeated violations by either parent shall be cause for granting a modification of the parenting order. Parents are to exercise common sense as to weather conditions, traffic accidents, and other unforeseen circumstances.

(G) Transportation: In the event that the parents are unable to reach an agreement regarding transportation, the parent receiving the children shall arrange transportation.

(H) Clothing and Supplies for Children under Age Ten: The residential parent shall send with the children on parenting time sufficient clothing and outerwear appropriate for the season and for any known, planned activities. For the weekend, this shall consist of a minimum of a coat and shoes appropriate for the weather, two extra sets of play clothes, one dress outfit, and underwear, in addition to the clothes the child is wearing at the time of the start of the weekend.

In the case of infants, the residential parent shall send with the children sufficient bottles, formula, and diapers, and shall inform the nonresidential parent of the child's sleeping and eating schedules.

The nonresidential parent shall return all items that are sent with the children at the end of the parenting time.

(I) Children's Activities: Scheduled periods of parenting time shall not be delayed or denied because a child has other activities (with friends, work, lessons, sports, etc.). Parents need to realize the significance of these activities in their children's lives, and flexibility is encouraged. It is the responsibility of the parents to discuss the children's extra-curricular activities in advance, including times, dates, and transportation needs, so that the children are not deprived of activities and maintaining friends. Each parent shall provide the other with copies of any written material (i.e., activity schedules, maps, instructions) that are distributed in connection with the children's activities. The parent who has the children during the time of scheduled activities is responsible for transportation, attendance, or other arrangements. Both parents are encouraged to attend all of their children's activities.

23A.07 Conclusion

Parents are encouraged to allow for flexibility in the foregoing schedule to best suit the changing needs of the children and the employment schedules of the parents. However, absent an order of the Court, the parents shall follow the foregoing schedule, unless there is a clear, mutual understanding between parents to deviate. Any such deviation shall be in writing to document the parents' mutual understanding.
